

TOUSANDS INVOLVED BUILDING PERMITS

Southern Railway Addition Swells Total to Largest in Several Months.

The building permits issued at the office of the Inspector of Buildings this week swelled the sum of money involved in the week's building projects to one of the largest in several months.
A permit was issued for the erection of the eight-story addition to the Southern railway's buildings at Thirteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue, estimated to cost $546,000.

A permit was issued for the building of a nurses' quarters adjoining the Hennepin Hospital, estimated to cost $1,000.

There were no other permits of significant proportions, though the number of permits issued was well within a week's general average, and featured manjama residences and a great deal of remodeling and repair work.

The site next to the existing building of the Southern railway has been cleared, and excavations have been made for the addition. The Capital City Construction Company is putting up the structure. Milburn, Heister & Co. are plans for the building.

The nurses' quarters next to the Hennepin Hospital will be a conventional red brick three-story structure for lodging thirty nurses. A. B. Heaton is the architect.

HOSPITAL TO ERECT HOME FOR NURSES

Commodious Structure Will Be Constructed at Second and M Streets.

A commodious new building to be occupied by nurses of the Hennepin Hospital and located on a plot adjacent to the institution, at Second and M streets, will be built in the immediate future, from plans prepared by Architect A. B. Heaton. It is planned to be an up-to-date structure of a high type of sanitary construction with modern features throughout. It is understood it will cost about $22,000.

The building will have dimensions of about 40 by 50 feet, four stories high.
It will have dormitory conveniences on the three upper floors. The main floor will be conventionally subdivided to have a reception, living room, library, and dining room.

The exterior will be of red brick construction with ornamental stone trimmings.

Inside, the nurses' quarters will be in white throughout. Ample windows for admission of light and air into the sleeping quarters have been planned.

"Perfect Soldier"

Tries to Kill Self

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Chester Little-house, honor man and "perfect soldier," at Fort Wadsworth, attempted suicide yesterday with a regulation army rifle.
Littlehouse was a corporal in the United States coast artillery. He had served sixteen years in the army and was known as a model man. Recently, however, he was arrested on a charge preferred by a fifteen-year old girl.
The bullet entered under the chin and penetrated the top of the head. His condition is serious.
